By signing this document, both parties agree to the following:

1. The Customer hereby assigns and transfers full ownership of their Claim to AirHelp. This assignment includes the Customer's legal rights to claim for compensation due to financial loss, damages, or reimbursement under Regulation (EC) No. 261/2004, UK Air Passenger Rights Law ("UK261"), the Montreal Convention of 1999 (MC99), the Brazilian Consumer Code and Brazilian Aeronautical Code, Turkish "SHY" passenger regulation, Canadian Transportation Act: Air Passenger Protection Regulations, or gesture of goodwill, arising from the disrupted flight(s) identified by the above mentioned booking reference (i.e. the "Claim").
2. AirHelp accepts this transfer and hereby acquires the Customer's rights to the Claim, agreeing to act against third parties with all rights and obligations.
3. This Assignment Agreement is made in accordance with the AirHelp Terms and Conditions and Our Fees, which have already been read and accepted by the Customer at airhelp.com.
4. This Assignment Agreement entitles AirHelp to the same rights and powers the Customer previously held within the scope of the Claim. Specifically, AirHelp is entitled to:
 - a. Act before any third parties in all both amicable and judicial proceedings, in any instance.
 - b. Initiate, submit, and terminate any legal and extrajudicial proceeding related to the Claim (either individually or as a collective with other customers).
 - c. Obtain information required from third parties, including administrative bodies responsible for enforcing air passenger rights regulations, where permitted by civil and administrative laws.
 - d. Collect, recover, and receive all payments related to the Claim into the bank account that AirHelp appoints, into which the Debtor must make all payments. This includes but is not limited to: compensation, interests, fees, and any legal costs from the operating carrier (or "Debtor") and/or the courts.
 - e. Appoint and mandate any law firm, solicitor or counsel to represent and assist AirHelp in all amicable and judicial proceedings in connection with the Claim.
5. This Assignment Agreement shall be effective as of the date the Customer signs it and shall be used as notification in writing to any third party, including the operating carrier. When such notification is legally mandatory, the third party shall consider this Assignment Agreement effective from the date of the notification. This Assignment Agreement can also include the documents "Claim-PDF" (a payment request from AirHelp to the operating carrier) and AirHelp's Electronic Signature Certificate (also known as the "Certificate of Completion").
6. The Customer hereby affirms that they have not assigned the Claim to any other third party prior to this Assignment Agreement. The Customer understands that they may not assign the Claim again, assert the Claim in their own name, or accept any direct contact or payment from the operating carrier.
7. The Customer authorizes AirHelp to request that any third party only process the Customer's personal data for the purpose of verifying and resolving the Claim, according to applicable data protection laws.
8. In accordance with Article 9.10 of AirHelp's Terms and Conditions, the laws of Germany apply to this document and any dispute related to its interpretation or validity.
9. If this Assignment Agreement is written in two languages, the English language version shall prevail in the case of any inconsistencies.
